

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to a novel use of abietic acid or derivatives thereof for inhibiting the growth of a cancer cell or treating a cancer, preferably, reducing the tumor size of the cancer.